

February 11, 2010

PRESS RELEASE

STARCOMMS PUTS MORE LOVE IN THE AIR WITH VALENTINE BUNDLE OFFER

Lovers and folks can now stretch the romance and good times of the Valentine season for as long as three months with the ongoing valentine promotion that is giving all new Starcomms subscribers a treat like never before. And it is happening in every city, town and village where there is Starcomms network coverage.

The Starcomms Valentine Bundle Offer is a pair each of two types of mobile phones (Huawei C228s & Motorola W385), which can be bought at a special price for use by two people. The two people will be privileged to enjoy a special love gift of three months of free airtime that the network is offering.

Any subscriber who buys a pair of Huawei C228s at a promotional rate of N6,500 during the promotion period of two months can give one to his mate as a Valentine's gift. With a recharge of at least N250 a month on both phones, the subscribers will enjoy unlimited free on-net calls to each other on the pair of numbers which would have been activated with the Starcomms love number feature. These goodies will last for three months from the moment of activation of the two phones. The benefits will be enjoyed also by subscribers who chose to buy a pair of the prestigious Motorola W385 at a discounted rate of N20,000.

Meanwhile all the phones on this programme will immediately be aligned to the normal Starcomms billing system for mobile phones three months after their first activation.

The Starcomms Valentine promotion with the bundle of phones takes good feelings and sweet conversations beyond the Valentine's Day far into weeks after the annual event. Young and young-at-heart subscribers of Starcomms can now take advantage of the promo to make more days count for love and romance.

This was explained by the Chief Commercial Officer of Starcomms Tushar Maheshwari who said: "The Starcomms Valentine's bundle promo was borne out of our desire to give memorable lift to the social lives of our subscribers. At a season like this, we are proud to give them a unique experience that will last in their memory till the next season. It is our contribution to making love last much more than on day of celebration"

=END=

